Chevron Recreation Program – BenefitHub

By Al Horan, Chair, CRA Benefits Committee

November 23, 2015

The Chevron Recreation website offers employees and retirees many savings opportunities on cell phone services, electronics equipment, vehicles, travel, and entertainment as well as the ability to save on other merchandise and appliances. These savings opportunities are offered through Chevron Purchase Programs or through the PerkSpot Program. The Chevron Recreation website is located at <http://chevrec.mybigcommerce.com> .

Effective November 1, 2015 Chevron introduced the BenefitHub Program as a replacement for the PerkSpot Program. BenefitHub is a Chevron Recreation Partner that offers a variety of regional and national discounts on everyday purchases as well as special offers that are available exclusively through Chevron. Many of the special offers require Chevron Unique Discount Codes which are available only on the BenefitHub website <http://chevrec.benefithub.com> . When looking for savings opportunities, BenefitHub allows you to search by zip code.

To get started exploring the many savings opportunities available through BenefitHub you will first need to set up a BenefitHub account. However, in order to protect the exclusive nature of this Program you will be required to provide a Referral Code to complete your registration. The Referral Code is RX7EN2 which will be valid until 12/31/15. (Periodically, new Codes will be made available.) Once you register, you will not need a Referral Code.

We ask for your cooperation by not releasing the Referral Code to anyone other than another Chevron retiree. If the Code gets into the general public the BenefitHub Program could be in jeopardy for both employees and retirees. We would appreciate if their request could be respected. Chevron has been a great supporter and advocate of the retirees and the Chevron Retirees Association.
